

for mobility teams

Run a world-class mobility program as masterfully as if every detail revolves around you. Because it does.

business challenges

Designing and running a successful global mobility program is not for the faint of heart. You need to make sure your policies are competitive (but not too competitive), monitor trends and budgets on a daily basis, stay on top of compliancy, and be able to nose-dive into the details of any particular move at a moment's notice.

- You don't have a full plate – you have a full platter of responsibilities, including tracking and managing a seemingly infinite number of details.
- You need to provide instant information on a particular transferee, on demand.
- You need to make sure your employees are having a smooth, positive relocation experience.

Plus is known for our high-touch service, and Elo for Mobility Teams further enhances this personal experience by bringing all the key players even closer together. High-tech and high-touch never blended together more beautifully.

how this affects you

Keeping track of best practices is nearly impossible because you may not know what they are or have time to implement them.

You're put on the spot to provide information that you may not have or can't find.

It's incredibly time consuming to stay on top of all of the people, documents, tasks, data and knowledge you need on a daily basis.

what if you could...?

Gain instant and complete visibility into everything related to your program, from at-a-glance insights to microscopic details?

Manage your program from soup to nuts, from authorizing moves, to handling daily tasks, to running custom reports?

Connect with a community of other mobility professionals to ask questions and share best practices?

if ...

You have too many details to manage, and not enough time to manage them

You can't find the information you need fast enough (or even find it at all)

You need access to best practices and relocation knowledge resources to help you learn as you go then ...

You need a solution that puts you at the heart of your mobility program, with centralized access to all your high-level program information and reporting, all the nitty-gritty details on every one of your employee moves, and everything in between.

what's in it for you

A proactive, intelligent mobility program that brings in the talent and makes them glad they came

A smarter (and easier) way to manage the day-to-day of your mobility program, giving you more time and fewer surprises

The ability to provide lightening-quick updates on specific moves what it is Elo for Mobility Teams is a game-changing cloud-based solution that puts you at the center of your mobility program. Instead of chasing down information from dozens of locations, you now can get it all in one place, personalized just for you.

- Keep your eye on at-a-glance dashboards of key metrics, or dig into real-time program reporting
- Track tasks, message service providers, monitor coming events, or look up information on individual employee moves with ease
- Authorize new moves, calculate the cost of prospective moves, or review employee survey results and comments
- Learn about relocation or what's trending in the industry; you can even connect with a community of your peers

Elo for Mobility Teams is built on the world's #1 cloud platform, Salesforce1, which is used for data management by some of the largest companies in the world. The Salesforce platform provides an intuitive user interface and is the most scalable, secure enterprise cloud platform available.

Now you can...

deep dive on a particular move

monitor real-time activities and metrics find what's-his-name's contact info in a flash

Visit www.plusrelocation.com to learn more about Elo for Mobility Teams. You can even check out a nifty whiteboard video or request a demo.